Overview of Internship experience

Living on Findlay campus (Ohio) has given me an incredible opportunity to get involved around the campus and to get to know a lot about American culture.

One of the things that really stuck out to me was how welcoming everyone on campus was. I met a lot of new friends through events organized on campus. I also got a chance to experience cultural diversity, which helped to broaden my mind and to make new friends.

From the day I shadowed at university of Findlay (UF), I knew that it would be my other home. UF really surprised me about how comfortable and satisfied it is to study here. The organized classes, insightful teachers and encouraging environment of UF made my internship a rewarding experience.

Findlay teaching methods are really good. They provide study materials a day before the session for the students to refer. The class sessions will mostly be interactive discussions. Once the discussions are complete, multiple-choice quizzes are conducted using "Kahoot". Kahoot! is a game-based learning platform, used as educational technology in schools and other educational institutions.

PRINCIPAL

MTM (Medication therapy management) center-Telehealth center is something new and different that I found in Findlay. MTM is supported by three full time staff and several other part-time pharmacists, Findlay students work with patients over the phone or video messaging to assess their medication regimen and lifestyle factors and look for any conflicting medicines. Through this process, students improve their proficiency in patient communication. On the medication side, students work with cases that contain medication conflicts and will experience the steps pharmacist take to reconcile the issues.

I also got a chance to visit Hospice nearby Wyandot memorial hospital. Hospice care is offered and provided for patients during last phase of an incurable illness or near the end of life, such as in some people with advanced or metastatic cancer. Treatment during Hospice care involves managing symptoms and side-effects. Our role in hospice care involves assessing the appropriateness of medication orders for patients, ensuring timely provision of effective medications for symptom control and management, counseling and educating the hospice team about supportive care through the use of medication therapy, and ensuring that patient and caregivers understand and adhere to the directions provided with medications.

Through my internship I was lucky to have great people supporting me. While I gained a variety of experiences and skills, I think the impact of having the opportunity to learn from a seasoned professional gave me someone to look up and a goal to work towards. It instilled a work ethic in me of wanting to go above and beyond of what was required.

Doing this internship exposed me to many different aspects in my field of study. It helped me realize the areas I excelled at and those I needed to develop more. I was able to try out new tools, learn new skills along the way and leverage my mistake to motivate me to improve.

Furthermore, I realized what I wanted to do in the long term and, above all, what I did not want to do in my life. Interning helped me to discover a career path I was passionate about.

Conclusion

I have experienced the first culture shock when arrived in the host country and second one when i went back to my home country. These shocks made me more sociable, confident, flexible, adaptive and independent.

I can say that it's one of the most impressive and unforgettable experience in my life. Within the short span of time, I gained a lot of life and learning experience. This student exchange program truly made invaluable contribution to my self-development both in education and overall perception of life.
